DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 7 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 7 and 16 contain improper Markush groups. The proper conjunction is – and --, not “or”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-4, 6, 7, 9-13, 16, 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grangette (US 4,396,400).

Art Unit: 1714

Grangette teaches a gas oil composition comprising 100-5000 ppm of water, 100-5000 ppm surfactant (amphoteric or anionic) and 100-5000 ppm co-surfactant. The so-surfactant may be lower alcohols (see abstract; col. 2, lines 10-41; col. 3, lines 1-30; col. 3, lines 41-52; col. 4, lines 4-12). Grangette teaches that it is also known to use cationic and nonionic surfactants in fuel compositions (see col. 1, lines 26-65).

Grangette teaches the limitations of the claims other than the proportions as set forth in the claims. However, Grangette teaches that each component may be present in an amount from 100-5000 ppm. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to optimize the proportions of the surfactant, water and co-surfactant through routine experimentation for the best results. As to optimization of results, a patent will not be granted based upon the optimization of result effective variables when the optimization is obtained through routine experimentation unless there is a showing of unexpected results which properly rebuts the prima facie case of obviousness. See In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 276, 205 USPQ 215, 219 (CCPA 1980). See also In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 1578, 16 USPQ2d 1934, 1936-37 (Fed. Cir. 1990), and In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955).

6. Claims 8 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grangette as applied to claims above, and further in view of Yount (US 4,162,143).

Grangette has been discussed above. However, Grangette fails to teach the addition of a solvent. However, Grangette teaches that surfactants are normally blended in solvents such as kerosene (see col. 9, lines 35-45).

Art Unit: 1714

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to blend the surfactants of the present composition because teaches that in emulsified fuels the surfactants are normally blended with kerosene.
